

GRETT AND HANSEL

in the thicket of lies and nonsense

Right

Left

Scientific editing and content supervised by the Medical University of Warsaw:

Filip Raciborski PhD, DSc

Aneta Tomaszewska PhD

Piotr Samel-Kowalik PhD

Expert consultations by Marcin Napiórkowski PhD, DSc

Produced by Studio Melon

Illustrated by Ernesto Gonzales

Written by Grzegorz Janusz

Project coordination by Paulina Okońska

Typesetting by Paweł Timofiejuk

Translated into English by Wojciech Jędrak

Translation proofreading by Anna Błasiak

ISBN 978-83-7637-628-8

Project financed by the National Centre for Research and Development under the GOSPOSTRATEG program, competition for „commissioned” projects.

Project no.: GOSPOSTRATEG-II/0007/2020-00

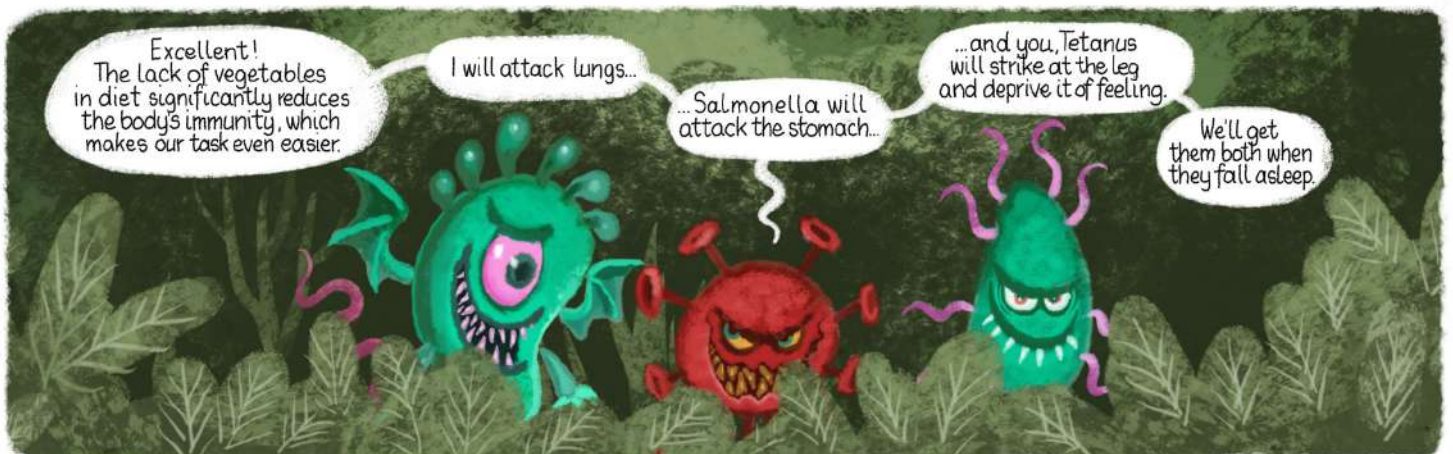

Time to sleep.

I'll tell you
a bedtime story.

Not at all long, long ago,
and not at all far, far away,
but right now, and quite
not far from here...

...lives the terrible witch Vaccinia.

This witch, seemingly gentle and kind lures unsuspecting children to her cottage...

...to maliciously torment them...

...to make them drink bitter potions...

...to stick sticks into their throats...

...to squash their bellies...

...to force them to eat raw vegetables and fruits...

...let out their blood...

...and, worst of all, to pierce
their arms with needles.

Beware of her,
my boy!

Good night.

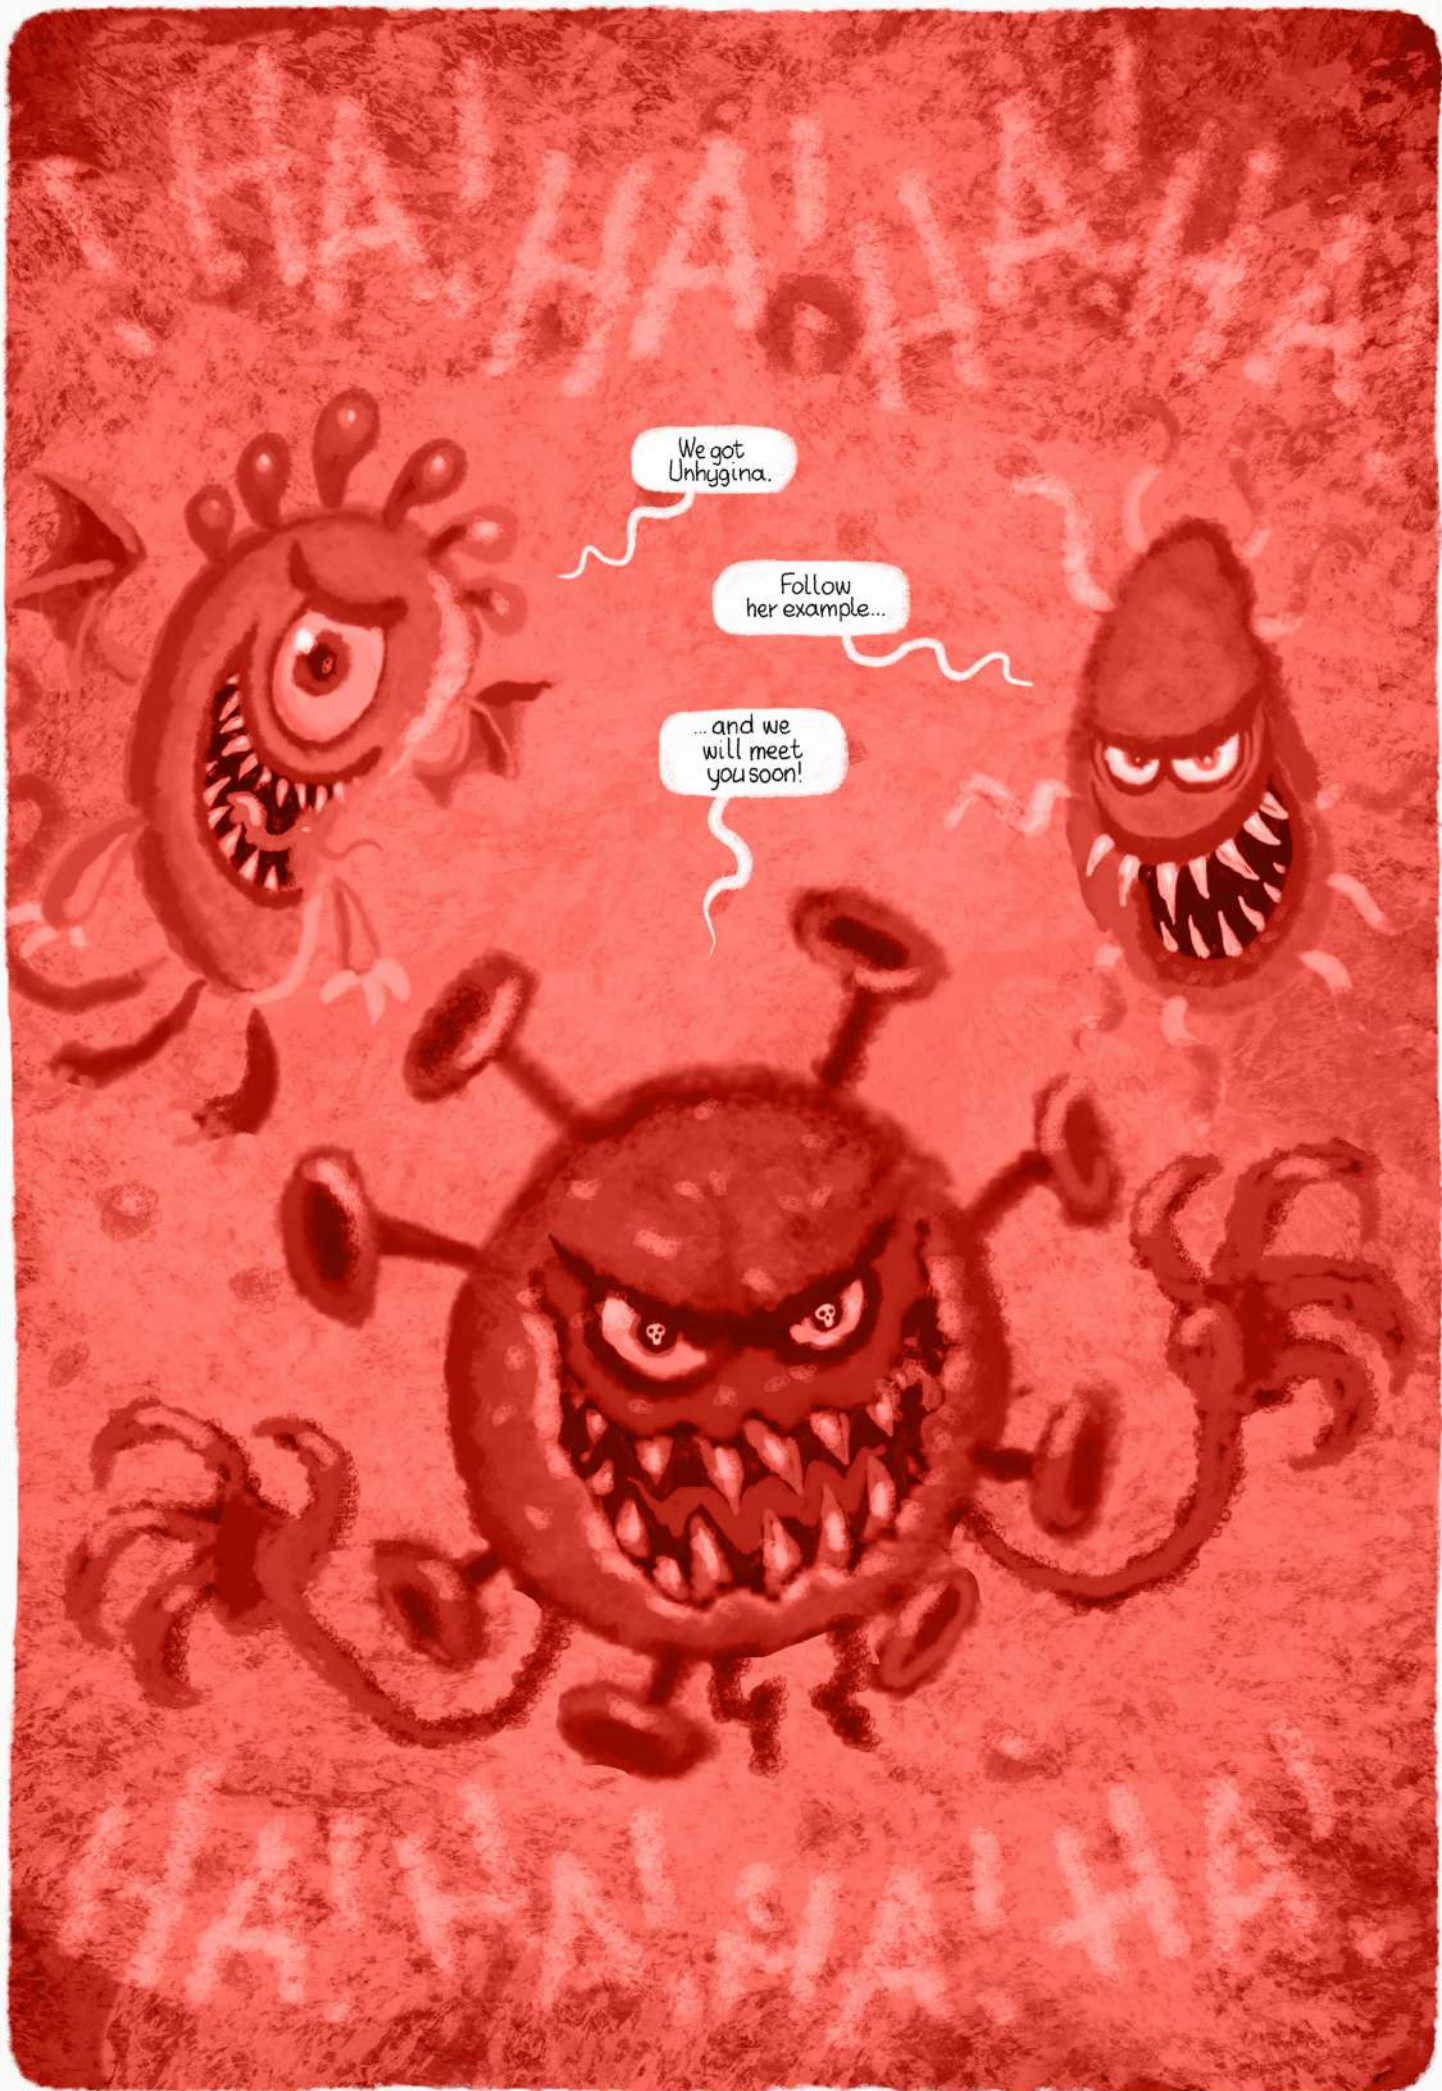

Good night.
But I'm not sure
if I'll sleep
tonight.

$2+2=5$

Up!
↓

↑
Down

Earth is Flat